About the WSU Organic Farm

The Organic Farm was established in 2004 primarily as an organic teaching farm. We offer an intensive 28-week course for college credit or continuing education units.

In order to cover our expenses, the produce we grow is sold through a CSA, a local farmer's market, and to on-campus hospitality and dining services.

The new 30-acre Eggert Family Organic Farm will be the primary site for vegetable production starting in 2015. The farm currently has 10 acres certified and is continuing a long-term project to build out new facilities to support a fully diversified farm system.
